History and Mission

Support Local. Reach Global.

The University Heights Arts Association formed in October of 2013 as a member arts association that has since grown to more than 100 artists, businesses and community partners. Our members are visual artists, writers, musicians, performers, and filmmakers. Through integrated arts programming, we serve the University-North Buffalo area and beyond. Membership is open to anyone.

PUBLIC ART

Sculpture Gardens and art for public places

Sculpture Garden

The University Heights Arts Association converted an overgrown lot behind St. Andrew's Episcopal Church of Buffalo into a sculpture garden during the spring and summer months of 2015. Plans for the lot began in February and necessitated the removal of two trees.

The trunk of a large tree was converted into the only permanent sculpture in the garden. Students from local colleges assisted with removing debris and overgrowth from the lot. UHAA members worked throughout the spring and summer to complete the garden.

Sculptor Lawrence Kinney custom-designed and hand-crafted a small stage/deck, ten cement platforms for sculpture, and a custom gate/fence which encloses the garden and provides "wall" space for two-dimensional art.

Programming

The UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden was unveiled on July 11, 2015 with an artist's reception. Events throughout the garden's first season included the second annual UHAA! Festival, Samuel P. Capen Garden Walk, several poetry readings and two acoustic musical performances.

The garden evolved gradually from an empty lot.

Moving Forward

The UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden will expand during 2016 to include two-dimensional art on the garden walls plus two murals.

Each of two invitational exhibitions are planned for the season featuring the work of eight area sculptors and three muralists. A series of poetry readings will also take place.

Plans for a second garden are underway at another vacant lot in Western New York.

Evolving Murals

Additional public art to be unveiled in 2016 include the Evolving Mural Program. Murals will be attached to surfaces that allow them to be exhibited for a period of time before shifting to alternative locations, sold or returned to the artists. In some instances, murals will be divided into sections that evolve.

The stage, which also boasts a portable dias, will host annual performances and poetry readings alongside exhibitions.

More than 250 guests attended the inaugural exhibition of the UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden. Sculptors featured in the first exhibition included: Richard Rockford with Robert Then, Mollie Atkinson with Ken Kash, William Herod, and Lawrence Kinney. The exhibition opened on July 11, 2015 and remained open through September of 2015.

Two-dimensional art will be added to the garden walls along with murals inside and outside of the garden. A series of unique window boxes featuring sculpted garden elements by master gardeners will adorn the back of the church (left) in 2016.

UHAA! FESTIVAL

An integrated festival of arts and culture to compliment the UHAA Art Partnering Program.

Expanded Activities

The second annual UHAA! Festival, which more than doubled in size and participation in 2015, offered 50 free activities including art projects, demonstrations, live performances, dance and poetry readings. More than thirty vendors participated along with twelve Main Street businesses. Activities took place in and outside of local businesses, parking lots, restaurants, and street corners.

The 2nd annual festival in 2015 featured performances by:

Kerflugidy      Relativity Belly Dance      WNY Ukelele Band      UG & The Youngins
Dynamic Drum Arts      Katie Ann      MC Zill      Morris Tucker

Interactive Activities included:

Head Dresses with Buffalo Caribana      The Art of Drums      AccessorART (masks)
Dinosaur Sculpture Making and Exhibition      International Film Festival Fun
Outdoor Line Dance Class with Rapha Wellness      Art for Health with Rapha Wellness
Operation Shear Joy Animal Crafts      Face Painting with Sigma Lambda Sorority
Poets on Art in the Garden      Chalk Art      Open Mic Music Hour

Vendors offered live demonstrations including free samples of their work in addition to sales. Visitors viewed paintings, sculptures, wood furniture, crafts, jewelery, quilts, scarves, soap, and wooden musical instruments.

Businesses along Main Street offered entertainment, food specials and complimentary activities in coordination with the rest of the festival.

Interactive Art Booths

The newly unveiled UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden was the site of several poetry readings, a live performance and a sculpture exhibition during the festival.

Third Festival Underway!

The third festival, which will take place on Saturday, August 13, 2016 will double in size from the second with the participation of additional businesses along Main Street, many of which are now Art Partnering locations. Free booth activities will double, art competitions will include Cake Decorating, Chalk Board Art, AccessorART Scarves, and Music Makers. A large stage will also offer each of two dance competitions. Area non-profits, block clubs and cultural organizations will also participate.

Disability-friendly art activities will be offered in collaboration with Western New York Independent Living.

"Poets on Art in the Garden" featured prominent Western New York poets.

Relativity Belly Dance and Dynamic Drum Arts performed on the porch of the Brent House, where festival participants joined in.

ART BOOTHS

Free, make-and-take art projects at community events and UHAA Art-Partnering locations.

Art on the Go

The UHAA ART'boothz program brings free art activities to approximately 25 events, farmer's markets, festivals and educational destinations per year. The booth consists of a hand-crafted (hot-dog) stand filled with art, music and writing supplies for various projects. Tables, chairs and tents complete the booth. Passersby are invited to try a new activity at each event or use materials available to produce their own ideas. In 2015, UHAA provided free activities at the following events:

- Every Day is Earth Day at NYPA
- University Community Farmer's Market (8 events)
- Mini-Maker Faire 2015
- UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden Grand Opening
- Capen Garden Spring Plant & Seed Exchange
- Capen Garden Walk 2015
- VibeFest 2015
- UHAA! ArtFest 2015
- Back to School at St. Joseph University School
- UB Neighbor's Day
- Capen Garden Fall Plant & Seed Exchange
- Seed Sparks with UHAA (at NYPA)
- Southtowns Lion's Club Holiday Bazaar
- Buffalo Citybration "Take Another Look"
- NYPA Festival of Trees
- West Herr Community Holiday Event

More than 800 families made holiday ornaments, cards and gifts at the NYPA Holiday Event.

New in 2016: ARTCovz

This series of self-serve booths offer free mini-art kits to passersby. Each kit consists of directions plus enough materials to learn an art-related skill such as drawing an apple, crafting an origami star, or composing a haiku poem. The art kits correspond to a database of projects that use common or recycled items. Additional compartments in the booth offer a mini-library of books, sheet music and CD samplers. The first two ARTCovz dispensers were placed at the Western New York Independent Living Center of Genesee County and the UHAA-St. Andrew Sculpture Garden. Additional booths will be placed at West-Herr Toyota of Williamsville and each of two Rapha Wellness Centers in March when the ARTCovz will be officially unveiled in WNY. A total of twenty additional booths are planned for 2016.

150 visitors visited the UHAA Booth to experiment with technology and art at the Buffalo Mini Maker Faire.

Children and adults experiment with watercolor-resist painting at one of eight booth art programs held at the University Community Farmers Market during the summer of 2015.

2015 Highlights

Buffalo Citybration: "Take Another Look"

UHAA artists, writers and photographers worked with local libraries, historical organizations, and promotional groups to gather historic and current memorabilia for use on handcrafted "My Buffalo" books. A total of 94 children and 43 adults made books. Seventeen more book kits were requested after the event. An expansion of this activity will take place in 2016.

Earth Day and Energy Awareness

The UHAA regularly partners with the New York Power Vista to mix art with green living. Families visited the UHAA booth to lend a painted "hand" to our My Earth Mural, which hung at the vista for a couple of months following the event. In October, the first annual "Seed Sparks" activity explored how energy converts seeds into life in honor of Energy Awareness month.

Mini-Maker Faire & VibeFest

150 adults and children sat down with us at Mini-Maker Faire to experiment with arts and technology by creating drawings that were uploaded and then manipulated to make new art. Later in the summer, the booth traveled to VibeFest to host a windsock competition.

University Community Farmer's Market

This series of eight events offered fine art, crafts, creative gardening and visual poetry projects. Families, local artists and students from U.B. also enjoyed open art under our tents.

A Community Holiday

Each of three programs presented free holiday fine art, ornaments, cards, and make-and-take gifts to several hundred families in need. The holiday booths were held at the West-Herr Automotive Group Holiday Event the NYPA Festival of Trees, and the NYPA holiday event.

Posters And More

The University Heights Arts Association completely produces and manages all art-related services for the Samuel P. Capen Garden Walk.

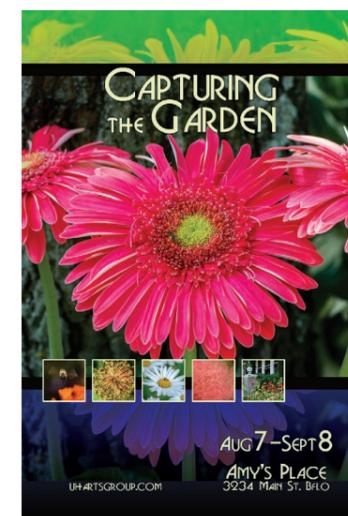

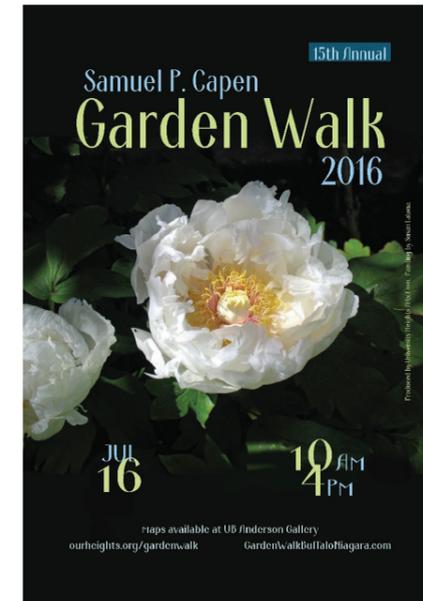

The Garden Walk Poster Art Competition grew in 2015!

Three cash prizes were added in addition to the first annual, "The Beauty in Our Backyard" exhibition of entries at UHAA Art Partnering locations. Submissions are also permanently displayed in an online exhibition.

The UHAA added a photography competition with three cash prizes in 2015 to encourage the community to photograph the garden walk.

Advertising materials for the Capen Garden Walk including vinyl banners and event fliers were designed by the UHAA.

New in 2016! A series of workshops that feature gardening artistry, floral arranging, and photographing nature.

New in 2017! A children's gardening art competition.

SOIL, SEEDS & SECRETS

A program of the University Heights Arts Association that explores seeds as way to garden, and the concept of the seed as a way to artistically share slice of life interpretations of personal and community history.

Books and Bytes.

Soil, Seeds & Secrets not only serves as the title of a full color book underway but a program boasting an interactive web site and a group of printed materials. Illustration, photography, painting, poetry and prose convey useful information about harvesting and planting seeds along with artistic interpretations of gardening and other life experiences. The UHAA packaged and disseminated 1048 packages of seeds along with illustrated seed guides in 2015.

Community Engagement.

New is 2016! The Soil, Seeds and Secrets program will compliment healthy living initiatives promoted by the Buffalo Promise Neighborhood through the development of healthy living keepsake books for residents.

A series of video interviews will document "slice of life" stories about community members for a related history project.

'AGING, ABILITY & ART

Expanded partnerships in 2015 lead to accessible art through the UHAA in 2016 for aging and disabled populations.

UHAA Booth Arts and Art Partnering programs transform resources into simple, accessible programming for older adults.

Accessible Art

Western New York Independent Living (WNYIL) of Buffalo invited the UHAA to host a second presentation about the arts for senior adults as part of the 2016 Summit on Aging, to be held in September of 2016 at the Niagara Falls Convention Center. UHAA members will add a workshop to this year's presentation.

The UHAA has partnered with WNYIL Buffalo and WNYIL Genesee to provide people with disabilities access to each of two UHAA programs. The UHAA Booth Art Program will offer fine art, crafts, music, writing and photography at the WNYIL Genesee center. WNYIL Genesee will also host the first ARTCovz self-serve art booth, which for that location will provide disability-friendly projects.

New in 2016! ARTiculation Ability Exhibitions will offer four exhibition opportunities per year to people with disabilities living in Genesee, Orleans and Wyoming Counties

Similar programs are being developed in Western New York in collaboration with the Gloria Parks Community Center and the Buffalo Promise Neighborhood.

Visitors attended the 1st "Aging with the Arts: Enriching the Lives of Older Adults" presentation.

Aging with the Arts: Enriching the lives of Older Adults. A presentation.

- The University Heights Arts Association (UHAA) presents, Aging with the Arts: Enriching the Lives of Older Adults.
- Successful arts programming begins with identifying appropriate resources, then building accessible activities. The UHAA complements its own arts programming with other resources to offer opportunities for older adults to explore visual art, theater, music, film, and integrated arts.
- General Community Resources: Community Centers, Eldercare Facilities, Veterans Facilities, Religious Facilities, Community Colleges, Libraries, Wellness Centers, Museums, Galleries, Theaters, local businesses.
- WNY Arts Resources: More than 200 galleries, museums, shops, theaters, and music venues. UHAA Art Partnering transforms resources into programming for older adults.
- The UHAA connects the ideas, strategies and funding necessary to produce professional quality arts programming for community members of all ages. Our members include artists, writers, performers, filmmakers, photographers, supporters and advocates.
- Our Collaborative Partners: Buffalo Arts Studio, Buffalo Society of Artists, BuffaloVibes, Catherine Parker Artist Salon, Come Five Pottery, Floral Explorations, H.E.A.R.T. Foundation, Impact Artists Gallery, JM Antiques, Music City Buffalo, Rapha Health and Wellness, Queen City Imaging, Silent Voices Gallery, St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, St. Joseph's University Parish, Talking Leaves Bookstore, Think Twice Radio, UB Anderson Gallery, Unity of Buffalo, Western New York Independent Living (WNYIL), West-Herr Toyota Salon of Williamsville.

New in 2017:
Youth Web Pages

INTEGRATED WEB SERVICES

Support local. Reach Global.

The University Heights Arts Association provides members with a host of coordinated web resources plus support for using them.

Artist Web Pages

Both member artists and business partners enjoy a web page, complete with a photo carousel, detailed description of products or services offered, links to other resources, and contact information. A small team of web managers create member web pages. The UHAA provides member web pages to community groups such as Linear Park.

Website services are provided in a partnership with LKPro.com which hosts UHAA websites with a dedicated server, and provides professional grade software.

New in 2016

The UHAA has partnered with BuffaloVibe as well as LKPro to produce web page services for members.

Education

The UHAA provides individual support for artists wishing to connect their existing web sites and social utilities to the UHAA network of online resources. Workshops are offered twice per year to assist members with marketing their work, both online and locally through the UHAA Arts Crawl Partnering Program.

ART PARTNERING

The University Heights Arts Association places art in local businesses and community spaces through ongoing partnerships that benefit both the artist and the venue.

Available Resources.

Available space in public places allows artists to exhibit their work without the fees associated with a gallery. Participating venues hang a small plaque next to exhibited art. The plaque bears a unique cell phone code that leads to information about the artist and the venue. Additional information about upcoming events at the location can also be found when accessing the cell phone code. A master code maps all venues. The Art Partnering Program coordinates with UHAA Online Markets and member web pages. The UHAA began incorporating cell phone (QR code) technology into its programming in December of 2013, which we introduced to our partners.

One Membership. Multiple Networks.

Art is exhibited in storefronts, restaurants, galleries, churches and gift shops. Each offers a new audience and with it, a broader market for the artist and the venue. The UHAA Art Partnering Program hosted more than 450 works of art at different locations in 2015. Continuous exhibitions are offered at the following locations (with additional locations offering occasional exhibitions):

Amy's Place Restaurant      Couture      Illuminations Glass Studio
NYPA Power Vista      Pamela, Inc.      Shango Bistro      Queen City Imaging
Shadow Lounge Buffalo      St. Andrew's Episcopal Church of Buffalo

New Additions Offering continuous exhibitions in 2016:

Buffalo's Best Grill
Unity Gallery of Buffalo
Christ United Methodist Church

NEW IN 2016!

The UHAA has mapped all art in the University District of Buffalo using cell phone technology.

2015

Type: Partnering with local businesses
